INTRODUCTION

The original meaning of New Zealand is "new and wonderful land". The country extends about 1,600 kilometers from north to south, with the South Pacific Ocean in the east, the Tasman Sea in the west, and Antarctica in the south, only about 2,600 kilometers apart. It is an isolated island in the South Pacific.

This time we will go to the South Island of New Zealand. Compared with the North Island, the scenery of the South Island is more diverse and attractive. The main attractions of New Zealand are all over the South Island. Magnificent snow peaks, deep and narrow fjords and lakes, the scenery is very magnificent. Vast forests and pastures also make New Zealand a green agricultural kingdom. Due to the natural environment of New Zealand, there are quite a variety of outdoor activities, whether it is land, sea, or air. Here, we will choose the most suitable itinerary for you to make your journey more fulfilling.

Autumn Journey through New Zealand's South Island can make everyone feel the beauty of this land more deeply.

THINGS TO KNOW BEFORE COMING TO NEW ZEALAND:

- New Zealand's weather is unpredictable, sometimes windy, sometimes rainy, and even floods and road closures in severe cases. At any time, you will have to face the occurrence of unexpected situations, and then change the itinerary/accommodation.
- Some itineraries/attractions (Mount Cook) require a short walk to reach.
- Tour members have no underlying diseases (asthma, high blood pressure, heart disease) and are well equipped to defend against climate change.
- This is a self-driving tour (our tour leader will be the driver) , there is limited space for luggages. Therefore, it is recommended that the group members to bring a lighter luggage or a backpack. Luggage space requires everyone to cooperate.
- Different accommodation will be changed one to two days, which also allows the tour members to have a more complete New Zealand accommodation experience.
